To whom it may concern,

Re: Aaron Kent

Aaron has worked with pupils from Victoria Park Junior School over the past three academic years. He has mentored and coached children, who were having difficulties in managing friendships and pupil/teacher relationships, as well as struggling in school accessing the curriculum due to their emotional and behavioural difficulties. Due to Aaron's input and support all the children he has helped have improved both their ability to deal with other people and their ability to get on with work. He is knowledgeable about child development and shows great insight into behaviours.

Aaron is an extremely hard-working and professional individual whose passion for his work ensures his success. He is calm & passionate with the children, helping them to realise their potential, address their difficulties and take responsibility for their actions. He is a role model in his actions and behaviours and the children really respond well to his influence. He has worked on many areas of development with the children such as, anger management, self esteem, getting along with others, bullying and much more.

As part of his work at our school, Aaron has liaised with parents, communicating with them about their child, the child's progress in school, and the work he is doing with them. He establishes and maintains very good relationships with parents. They really open up to him and trust him and I know they really appreciate his work. He has worked with some of our more demanding parents and has helped to build trust and communication where the school has struggled before. He has acted as both a bridge and a mediator to help children and parents talk to & understand each other and has helped families to change their behaviour to bring out the best in their children.

Perhaps Aaron's best quality is his ability to create relationships with children. He genuinely enjoys spending time with children and they love to spend time with him. This is clear from every interaction he has with all the children in school, at playtime & lunchtime and even sports days. The children who work with him treasure their time with him, because he is fun to be with and listens to them and gives them good advice

I would recommend Aaron whole-heartedly to you. He really does motivate and inspire children to be the very best they can be.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs J.Taylor ( Headteacher)
